A [illegible] — The [illegible] Army correspondent of the London Times [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] Secession [illegible] from the country. He [illegible] to be [illegible] his opinions. He [illegible] the great [illegible] of the Union. And he takes [illegible] a [illegible] through the whole South and [illegible] South [illegible] and the [illegible] of Southern [illegible] as well as the extent of Southern resources.

"Of the ultimate power of the Northern and Western States to subjugate the seceded States in the South, if they put forth all their strength and means by sea and land, I have no doubt whatever. The South must die of atrophy after a time if every channel of line is shut to it. By the end of this month the United States will have a large fleet on the coasts and on the rivers, and I have reason to think that an expedition will be organized also to attack the Texas secessionists from the west—far as that is away. A naval officer said to me the other day—'it seems as if the moment an American sees an Englishman he thinks the latter is going to say something about cotton—you need not be afraid of any want of cotton in England. By October we will have a few good ports down South, and plenty of cotton for all the world.' Fernandina may possibly go soon; there is an eye on Pensacola also; and New Orleans is by no means safe. The condition to which the blockade has reduced many classes in the South is bad enough; it will become still worse. Tea, coffee and clothing are nearly exhausted, or have, as the American phrase has it, 'given out,' because there is none to give out at all. Lead, sulphur, and salt are very scarce. Shoes, flannel, quinine, beef, and butter, cloth, and leather are in the same category. If the blockade be enforced the distress and want of all things save natural produce will be intense.

And what is the end to be? There is a notion in some men's minds that there will be a compromise—that a strong democratic reaction and a great peace party will arise which will oust the present administration and carry some measures on which the North and South will find a base to rest propositions for mutual agreement. To my limited vision the idea seems quite illusory. The South, if not beaten, will be content with no terms short of 'independence' or 'domination.' The North is now irritated, pride and passion are aroused, and the peace party is losing, instead of gaining ground."

A STORY ABOUT SEWARD.—The Philadelphia North American tells this story of Secretary Seward:

"Hon. William H. Seward, Secretary of State, passed through the city yesterday morning, at eleven o'clock, on his way from New York to Washington. Mr. Seward has a weakness whenever possible for traveling incog. He is an inveterate smoker. When he enters a passenger train he seeks out the smoking car, and finds beatitude in puffing La Normas until the end of his ride. Between New York and this city he occupied a seat with a pleasant looking genius who talked about 'that d—d fool Seward' during the whole trip. The stranger supposed his fellow traveler to be a sutler's book-keeper. Mr. Seward pitched into himself in a most scandalous manner, seconding every objurgation of the stranger with hearty emphasis. When the latter observed Mr. Seward identified and saluted by gentlemen upon the car, his feelings can be better imagined than described. The last seen of him by our informant he was hiding behind the steamer's smoke-stack."

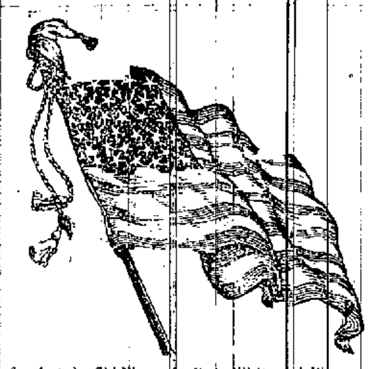
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.



No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JAN. 29, 1862.

The Crittenden Compromise.

"Did the Republican Congress sustain John J. Crittenden and Stephen A. Douglas in their glorious but fruitless efforts as mediators? We stand upon the record and deny that they did."—Gov. Curry.

"We impeach them in the name of the American people with the crime of fraternal bloodshed and the blacker crime of attempted parricide. We impeach them before the world with the murder of their own Government and Constitution, and the destruction of Liberty itself."—Gov. Curry.

We would not refer to the Crittenden Compromise but for the continual misrepresentations of the secession paper of this city. It has been thoroughly discussed and all its history placed before our readers. There was no moment in the Senate, and we believe, in the House, that it would not have passed, if those claiming to be the friends of secession had voted for it. While it was not acceptable to some republicans, Southern democrats could have carried it in opposition to those republicans. The fact stands out that it was not wanted by the South, and Southern men defeated it by refusing to vote for it. These are truths written on the page of history.

This history we have already given in our paper. It will be found in the Weekly Oregonian of 28th September last. It was taken from the speech of Senator Latham, of California. The secession papers of Oregon never attempted to impeach it. The most they could and did say, was that the republicans should have forced the adoption of the proposed Compromise, even in opposition to the wishes of the South, who contemptuously spurned it. What good would that have effected?

Senator Latham stated that on the 20th of July Senator Crittenden's resolutions came up for consideration in the Senate. On the question previously voted on, fifty-five Senators were present. Mr. Clark, of New Hampshire, offered an amendment with the design to embarrass and supplant Mr. Crittenden's resolutions. The vote was taken, and Mr. Clark's amendments adopted: Yeas 25, nays 23; seven Southern members were present whose votes would have defeated Mr. Clark's amendment, but they would not and did not vote; and they withheld their votes for the very purpose of defeating the compromise resolutions. Of these Southern Senators, Messrs. Wigfall, Benjamin, Hemphill, Iverson, Johnson and Slidell, were in their seats. Mr. Crittenden was stung to the heart by this rejection of his Compromise by the Southern secession democratic Senators. Mr. Pugh, of Ohio, despairing of any compromise, moved that the whole subject be laid on the table, which was done. Subsequently, Mr. Cameron moved to reconsider that vote, which was effected; and the Crittenden resolutions were again submitted to the Senate on the 2d of March, and then the Southern Senators, having nearly all seceded, the resolutions were lost by one vote.

If the seceding Senators had remained, (Lane was then in the Senate and did not vote for them,) the Crittenden resolutions would have passed by a large vote, and an amendment to the Constitution by a two-thirds vote, forbidding Congress ever interfering with slavery in the States; and the whole subject would have gone before the people of the country.

These are the simple truths in regard to the defeat of Mr. Crittenden's resolutions in the Senate; and their defeat shows that there was a willful design on the part of the secessionists to break up the government, and to bring on that civil war which is now desolating some of the fairest portions of the country.

We have not repeated this portion of late Congressional history with the supposition that it will stop the misrepresentations of the secession party in reference to the defeat of the Crittenden resolutions. We have given it that it may not be forgotten by the friends of the Union. As said by a democratic paper, "Gov. Curry knows that neither Crittenden's Compromise nor any other compromise that could have been framed, however humiliating it might have been to the North, could have averted the stroke that has fallen upon the country. He knows that Lincoln only seeks the perpetuation of the Union, though he would fain persuade his readers that he and his party aim at its destruction. It is restrained by no scruple, and so long as the falsehood favors his party, he has no hesitation in vouching for its truthfulness, while knowing its falsity. He knows that a dissolution of the Union was the end and aim of his secession friends, and that nothing short of the accomplishment of that diabolical object will satisfy them."

Report from Post Office Department.

This Report embraces a report from the Sixth Auditor of that Department, showing the postal receipts and expenditures in free and rebel States as follows:

The following States pay into the Treasury above expenditures:

New Hampshire	[illegible]
Massachusetts	[illegible]
Rhode Island	[illegible]
Connecticut	[illegible]
New York	[illegible]
Pennsylvania	[illegible]
Delaware	[illegible]
District of Columbia	[illegible]
Colorado	[illegible]
Dacotah	[illegible]

In the remainder of the free States, the excess of expenditure is from twenty-one thousand to seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars in their respective States.

The amount of stamps sold during the past year	$ 6,[illegible],907 7[illegible]
Receipts of letter postage	[illegible]
Total expenses of the Post Office Department	1[illegible],[illegible]10,720 68
Excess of expenditure over receipts	[illegible] 21

The rebellious States cost the Government to carry their mails, over their receipts, as follows:

Virginia	$[illegible]
South Carolina	147,7[illegible]
North Carolina	[illegible]
Georgia	1[illegible]
Florida	1[illegible]
Alabama	24[illegible]
Mississippi	2[illegible]
Texas	474,2[illegible] 41
Louisiana	230,[illegible] 41
Tennessee	154,[illegible]
Arkansas	250,2[illegible]

Making an aggregate of $2,447,940 42 over receipts.

Our Patriot Soldiers.—The different regiments now in service at the East make regular remittances of $10,000, $15,000, and as high as $20,000 per month, to the folks at home. The receipt of the money is usually acknowledged in the papers. This shows that Government takes care of its troops. In the matter of clothing there are but few complaints, and they are generally from regiments not yet out of the recruiting camps. The wool supplies and manufacturing capacities of the North have not been quite equal to the immense demand made upon them by the war. The greatest scarcity is in the matter of blankets. An Ohio paper recommends to families to furnish carpeting as a substitute, in cases of great want.

Bishop Turner, of Buffalo, had addressed a letter "to the honored and pious christian women of his diocese," against the wearing of low necked dresses. He most earnestly exhorts all ladies, the very young as well as those of more mature age, not to appear in church, nor assist at Catholic sacred functions, nor present themselves for the reception of the sacraments, without having the neck, shoulders and breast modestly covered.

London papers say that England is now in a fair way of becoming independent of the United States for the article of cotton. What will negroes be worth when cotton ceases to be king? The English are effectually working out the problem of—what is to be done with American slavery?

The Count de Sagre, lineal descendant of Count Rochambeau, of American Revolutionary fame, has tendered his military services to the President, and they have been accepted. The same answer has been given to the Baron de Schonen, descendant of Lafayette. They will soon be in the United States.

An English paper says that the Jamaica Cotton Company has sent out to that Island nearly two tons of Egyptian cotton seed, and as much Sea Island as they could procure. They have also sent out cotton gins and hydraulic packing apparatus.

The Sonora (Cal.) Democrat says that there is a great mania among the miners there to go to the Salmon river mines. The Democrat tries to discourage them in this enterprise; but they will go.

The American Agriculturist says that the foreign demand of England and France to make up the deficiency for last harvest, will be 144,000,000 bushels of wheat. Long live "King Corn."

A letter from Louisville to the Cincinnati Times, says: "A Nashville paper of the 19th November announces the death of Samuel Houston, on the 8th, in Texas."

Arrival of the Steamer Cowlitz.

The steamer Cowlitz arrived here about six o'clock last evening, from the Cowlitz river, where she had been blocked in during the late cold spell. Capt. Holman informs us that he met the steamer Brother Jonathan day before yesterday going down the river outward bound, having been ice-bound for the last two weeks, three miles below St. Helens. Nothing was seen of the Cortes, now over due. The Cowlitz brought a large mail from Olympia.

From Olympia.

On the 5th, Alonzo M. Poe, of the Overland Press, a Union man, was elected Public Printer.

The Council passed [illegible] bill for the mining [illegible].

The House received [illegible] Sparks, of Walla Walla, as his wife's [illegible] elected Rev. [illegible] W. [illegible], Chaplain.

On the 7th, a bill was introduced to repeal the act incorporating the "Oregon Steam Navigation Company," and made the special order for Friday next.

On the 8th, committee reported against the claim of W. W. Johnson for a seat in the House; report adopted.

Mr. Griswold introduced a memorial to Congress asking that fortifications be erected at the mouth of the Columbia river.

A debate took place on the bill to repeal the charter of the "Oregon Steam Navigation Company," which was finally indefinitely postponed. Bill to incorporate Washington Steam Navigation Company, ordered to be printed.

We have further details of legislative proceedings, including the 13th, which we will give to-morrow.

J. W. Johnson, Adjutant General, has issued a proclamation, calling for the organization of the Militia—which appears to have excited some amusement in Olympia.

A difficulty occurred at the house of a man named Clamps, in Pierce county, on New Year's day, in which a woman, the wife of a man named Looney was killed.

The revenue cutter Jeff. Davis was sold out of the service at public auction, on the 10th inst., at Port Townsend, and was purchased by Messrs. Brennan & Cranney for the sum of $2,020. The Northwest says if the sale had been conducted fairly several hundred dollars more would have been put in Uncle Sam's pocket.

The Pioneer and Democrat says that Major Goldsborough, who is associated with Dr. O'Brien and Victor Smith, in the project of removing the Custom-house to Cherberg, has gone East as the Agent of the speculators, with the view of lobbying their plans through Congress.

Smith, ex-Collector of Customs, was hung in effigy, on the 11th inst., at Port Townsend, for his connection in the above transaction.

Snow covered the ground at Olympia to the depth of twenty inches.

Drift Wood.—We learn from Mr. Geo. A. Paige, recently from Cape Flattery, that the beach all around Cape Flattery and Neah Bay is thickly strewn with the wreck of buildings carried off by the late freshets in Oregon. Much of this drift came from the Upper Willamette. A fine log of California Redwood came ashore at Neah Bay, and was made use of by the people for weather-boarding. This log must have come all the way from Humboldt Bay, a distance of five or six hundred miles.—Overland Press.

From Victoria.

The British Colonist says that Attorney-General Cary has returned from San Francisco, and announces the entire success of his mission, having subsidized two steamers to run to Victoria direct from San Francisco after the first of March. Mr. Cary is confident that two steamers will also be placed on the route to run via Portland.

Fraser river is frozen over.

Nine hundred and seventy-four barrels of California flour were brought to Victoria by the Scranton and Perkins.

The abolishment of imprisonment for debt is being agitated in the Victoria papers.

The farmers in Santa Clara county have, at a public meeting, denounced the present plan of marketing grain in sacks as a grievous expense upon farmers.

Col. Warren, of the California Farmer, has associated with himself in the publication of that paper, J. K. Phillips, Esq.—a practical printer.

The Coffee crop in the Sandwich Islands was fine the last year. One house had collected 30,000 pounds.

A vast many swarms of bees and much honey was lost in the recent floods in California.

NEW TO-DAY.

Caution!

ONE WM. G. HALL having reported that he is a partner of mine in the Portland Soap Works, this is to give notice that he has nothing to do with the above business, either as partner or agent; and that I will not be responsible for any of his contracts. Said Hall has lately arrived here from San Francisco out of funds, and has taken the above method of "raising the wind." He is formerly from the town of Kent, Litchfield county, Connecticut, where he is well known as a bad character, and boasts of being smart enough to make his living without honest labor. Description: Height about five feet six, rather squatty built, eyes rather [illegible], and extremely large mouth and grammy countenance, quick spoken, and can be seen any hour of the day passing up and down Front street as though he was doing a [illegible] business.

CITY.

Will Some People ever Learn?—On Sunday three letters were placed in the Post Office, on which there were old postage stamps, with the following names: John Kelsey, Corvallis; Wm. [illegible], King's Valley; Martha H. Kelsey, King's Valley; and, also, previously, John A. Huff, Richland, Iowa;—and Martha McAvoy, Lancaster, Penn. Unless these letters and some others, now in the Post Office, are sent for by the writers and stamps of the new kind placed upon them it will become the duty of the Post Master to send them to the Dead Letter Office, at Washington.

Later from the Cascades.—From Mr. Pennel, who arrived from the Cascades yesterday afternoon, we received the following items of news:

Mr. P. traveled the whole distance from the Cascades to Sandy—thirty-four miles—on the ice in the Columbia, and from thence came by land to this place—being sixteen hours on the way.

He reports four and a half feet of snow at the Cascades, and a Mr. Levensworth, who resides some four miles west of that place, lost seventy-five head of cattle from starvation.

On Saturday last a colored man belonging to the Hassaloe was found dead a mile and a half from the Cascades. On Friday afternoon, he and two white men started for Col. Ruckel's house, on the Oregon side, all somewhat intoxicated. In the evening the two whites returned without the negro. Search was made next day, and he was found much bruised and pounded, indicating foul play. It was said that he had some twenty dollars on his person, which was missing when he was found. The two white men could give no account of his death, and there was some talk of arresting them, but up to the time Mr. Pennel left nothing had been done in the matter.

Shot.—A man named Jas. Smith was shot in the arm by Sheriff Dixon, in Washington county, on Monday last, for resisting an arrest. The wound was quite severe.

Lyceum.—A number of young gentlemen, most of them pupils of the Academy, formed quite an interesting Lyceum at their school-room last night.

French Opinion.—A letter from Paris of Oct. 11, says:

The Union cause is gaining ground among the Paris journals. Hitherto the only daily newspapers published in the French capital, which could be safely declared favorable to the Union and opposed to secession, were the Siecle and the Opinion Nationale. The others were either "on the fence" or secretly in the Southern interest, with the exception of the Patrie, which, since the beginning of our troubles, has been and continues to be exceedingly hostile to the United States. The Journal des Debats, whose articles have been frequently copied in America, leans towards the North, but still cannot divest itself of considerable sympathy for the free-trade velleities of the South, and now and then manifests no little uncertainty of opinion as to the issue of the present conflict. One of the most influential of the Paris journals, the Presse, has until very recently followed a somewhat contradictory course in its appreciations of American affairs. The latest articles which have appeared in that journal are gratifying evidence of a considerable knowledge of our affairs, and an enthusiastic support of the Union. M. Duff, the new writer in the cause of the Union, is a warm and eloquent defender.

Even in Charleston, according to a trustworthy man who has just escaped thence, there are many true friends of the Union.—They give no public utterance to their sentiments, but know each other, and privately exchange their thoughts. If this be true of the center of Secession fanaticism, what must be the condition of those communities which were forced into treason?

A Traitor Caught.—It will be recollected that a few weeks since Gen. McClellan conceived a plan, and had it just ready for execution, for capturing Munson's Hill with the eight or ten thousand rebels on it, but that his coup was defeated by the betrayal of his plan to the enemy. The traitor has been discovered in the person of one of the clerks in the War Department, and is now safely lodged in Fort Lafayette.

Bear-faced Imposition.—The Stanislaus (Cal.) Index says that a butcher at Knight's Ferry recently purchased a fat bear and sold bear-steaks freely at twenty-five cents a pound. Bottles were in demand for the purpose of saving a bit of "ile." Many declared that the bear meat was delicious, while others thought it was rather strong. In a day or two the boys found they had been regaling themselves off of the carcass of a venerable male hog that had been perambulating the streets for some years. The old fellow had been skinned instead of being dressed in the ordinary way.

Swett's Grape Bitters, or Restorative Wine, manufactured under the supervision of Mrs. A. M. Swett, the celebrated Clairvoyant Physician, and prepared from roots and herbs of great medicinal virtue, combined with the pure juice of the California Grape—a certain remedy for Liver Complaint, Debility, Biliousness, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Impaired Appetite, Impure Breath, &c., and all diseases requiring a powerful Liver Invigorator and Tonic. Warranted the best remedy ever invented for diseases peculiar to females, such as Leucorrhoea, or Whites, Weakness, &c. The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is steadily securing a position which places it as well as its proprietor far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, standing high among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equaled him in this country; as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary [illegible]. Selecting this as his field of [illegible], [illegible] graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army [illegible]. Dr. L. J. Czapkay has devoted his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he is so successful an expert that he is now reckoned the [illegible] in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography [illegible] readers in the most extensive periodicals. The Doctor's office is at his Medical Institute, Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in corresponding, please enclose $10 in their letters and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address L. J. CZAPKAY, M. SEWING MACHINES

ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR

BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

—AND—

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a seam equally strong and alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk, directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity and without changing the tension. It should also be able to alter the tension, [illegible] on both the under and upper threads, and with [illegible] stitch [illegible].

The needle should have perpendicular motion, as this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to sew a cord, use a binder, braider, hemmer; should stitch, fell, [illegible], and always ready for work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; as others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side nor ravel.

SONG OF THE PRINTER

Pick and click
Goes the type in the stick,
As the printer stands at his case;
His eyes glance quick, and his fingers pick
The types at a rapid pace;
And one by one as the letters go,
Words are piled up steady and slow—
Steady and slow,
But still they grow,
And words of fire they soon will glow;
Wonderful words, that without a sound
Shall traverse the earth to its utmost bound;
Words that shall make
The tyrant quake,
And the bonds of the slave oppressed shall break;
Words that can crumble an army's might,
Or treble its strength in a righteous fight.
Yet the types they look but leaden and dumb,
As he puts them in place with his finger and thumb;
But the printer smiled,
And his work beguiled,
By chanting a song as the letters he piled,
While pick and click
Went the types in the stick,
Like the world's chronometer, tick! tick! tick!

"O where is the man with such simple tools
Can govern the world like I?
A printing press, an iron stick,
And a little leaden die,
With paper white, and ink of black,
I support the right, and wrong attack.

"I pull the strings
Of puppet kings,
And I break the despot's nose,
Or let him alone
Till the people groan,
When I must needs interpose;
Nor yet again
Do I e'en disdain
To talk of lowly woes.

"Then where is he,
Or who may he be,
That can rival the printer's power?
To no monarchs that live
The wall doth he give;
Their sway only lasts for an hour;
While the printer still grows,
And God only knows
When his might shall cease to tower."

The Three P.'s.

At the close of the last century, a poor, awkward, uncouth boy entered London, but he was so long, lank, and ungainly, that he seemed only fit to be the drudge of a printing office—run errands, bring water, sweep the floor and the like. Already had poverty and the hardness of the world made him sour, unhopeful and dependent. Under less discouragements, many a youth has abandoned himself to a thriftless life, having no higher aim than to live but for the day, or, worse still, has plunged headlong into all the extravagances and indulgencies connected with thriftlessness and crime. But the boy had vigorous health: this imparted to him a mental vim, a moral power, which soon showed itself to his employer. He was Prompt, Persevering and Painstaking; and with these three qualities, in spite of the fact that he was good at nothing, in everything tolerable only, he made his patient way, step by step, to the "woolsack," (that is the seat of the highest judge in England,) and lately died worth a million of dollars, among the most honored men of his nation and age, Lord Chief Justice Campbell.

In this case vigorous health was a mine of wealth, a better fortune than if he had been heir to many thousands. And certain it is, that the world would be happier, better and greater, if one tithe of the time, and care, and study, which parents bestow on the accumulation of money to leave to their children, were devoted to the physical education and training necessary to secure a vigorous constitution. Of any two young men starting on the race of life, one poor but healthy, and the other rich and effeminate, other things being equal, the chances for usefulness, honor, and a well-remembered name, are manifold in favor of the former. Every man of the least observation and reflection knows this to be an indisputable truth. Yet, in view of the fact that vigorous health is a better fortune than stocks and bonds, how many in each hundred parents who read this article will lay it down and resolve:—"I will do more to leave my children a vigorous constitution!"

Another element in the success of Lord Chief Justice Campbell was, that his employer, seeing his dull nature, but noticing at the same time that when he had anything to do, he went at it promptly, and with great painstaking kept at it until the work on hand was done, although painfully slow, he patted him on the shoulder, always spoke cheerfully to him, and with considerate consistency, threw little jobs in his way, by which the heavy boy might earn a little money, and be stimulated to greater activities. How many a youth at school, how many an apprentice in the shop, how many a child in the family has gone out in the night of a blighted life, who with humane encouragements, might have lived usefully and died famous, let the passionate teacher, master and parent inquire, and do a little more patting on the shoulder.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Mirthfulness.—As the diamond is found in the darkness of the mine, as the lightning shoots with the most vivid flashes from the gloomiest cloud, so does mirthfulness frequently proceed from a heart susceptible of the deepest melancholy.

We always overrate the happiness of others, and underrate the means of our own.

Health is the greatest of all bodily pleasures, but the least thought of.

The best capital to begin life with is a capital wife.

Of all diseases the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases—Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, Diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Diseases, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines are pleasant, without odor, causing no sickness, and free from mercury or balsam. During [illegible] years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted who may place themselves under my care a speedy and permanent cure. Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three [illegible] sufferers from the pangs of disease, who, having recovered their former health and impelled by gratitude, made known their cases and benefactor, and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. The [illegible] imperiously command their publicity, and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted.

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay for the permanent recovery of his health. Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of uncontrollable passion in youth, depressed in body and mind, unable [illegible] even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance—but alas, after a few weeks, and in several instances months of their treatment, I found to my unutterable horror that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming, and being told by one that my disease [illegible] confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence. I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength and energy, and as a last resort, and with but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay, who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, my head became clear, and my [illegible] the constant pain in my back and groins, the weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings of self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study and want of resolution, the frightful, exciting, and at times pleasurable dreams at night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared, and in fact in two months after having consulted the doctor I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that a cure under his care of radical importance will be effected.

MARYSVILLE, June 3d, 1855.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute with my constitution, as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin, and the ulcers in my throat, and the entire stoppage of those [illegible] which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I cannot fully tell you which is the greatest [illegible] my surprise [illegible] except not having fully got my strength [illegible] as well as any man can feel.

[illegible] your charge, and [illegible] If you think anybody will be [illegible] newspapers. Believe [illegible]

THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

[illegible] the most desire of my heart, [illegible] which deserves a common [illegible] not to skill, but that of [illegible] About two years ago I suddenly, and from [illegible] was seized with a fit of epilepsy, [illegible] the expenses [illegible] treatment and the disease [illegible] it soon became [illegible] the skill of any physician. [illegible] while in pursuit of my calling, [illegible] to the ground without the slightest warning, [illegible] I yet despised the [illegible] look upon those who [illegible] from danger as [illegible] of my misery. While in this state, and having given up to my afflictions, [illegible] I was induced to attempt [illegible] recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and [illegible] his services, regardless [illegible] my case, and with the blessing of God I was [illegible] restored to perfect health. [illegible] which I enjoy at present, and [illegible] thankfulness, I consider it due to myself and [illegible] the case public, in order that those [illegible] may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
